

Seasonal Natural Resource Technician Fort Wainwright, Alaska

Center for Environmental Management
MILITARY LANDS
Colorado State University

POSITION

Natural Resource Technician positions are available with the Center for Environmental Management of Military Lands (CEMML). These positions are located at Fort Wainwright, Alaska in support of the Natural Resources Program.

Beginning Monday, August 16, 2021, Colorado State University has mandated vaccinations against COVID-19. Faculty and staff are required to submit their vaccine status or declare an exemption. More information about the vaccination mandate can be found on the CSU COVID-19 Information and Resources site: <https://covid.colostate.edu/pandemic-preparedness-team-broad-guidance-for-all-summer-and-fall-2021-activities/>

ORGANIZATION

The Center for Environmental Management of Military Lands is a research, education, and service unit within the Warner College of Natural Resources at Colorado State University (CSU). CEMML applies the latest and most appropriate science to promote the sustainable management of natural and cultural resources on Department of Defense (DOD) and other public lands. We provide technical support, conduct applied research, and offer career development and learning opportunities to support resource stewardship. We collaborate with our sponsors and within CSU to resolve complex environmental issues, leaving a legacy of science-based decisions that sustain our resources for future generations.

LOCATION

Work will occur on Fort Wainwright in interior Alaska. Fort Wainwright is located on the east side of Fairbanks, Alaska. Locally, Fort Wainwright encompasses over 900,000 acres, including a main post area, ranges, and military maneuver areas. Approximately 15,000 people live and work at Fort Wainwright. Fairbanks is the second largest city in Alaska by population and hosts museums, parks, extensive hiking and biking paths, Alaska's largest university, and numerous outdoor recreational activities.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The successful candidate will assist with natural resource fieldwork, including but not limited to: wetland surveys, forestry surveys, invasive plant surveys and treatment, GIS support, and trail survey and site stabilization. Field work may involve off-trail hiking to field site locations, identifying native and invasive plants, and entering data in Microsoft Access and GIS databases. Work will occur in remote areas of interior Alaska, requiring technicians to work in inclement weather conditions, navigate to plots with GPS units, camp for extended periods in bear country, operate ATVs and 4-wheel drive trucks with trailers, and possibly travel in fixed and rotary wing aircraft.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Applicants should be physically capable of working outside for 10-hr workdays under all weather conditions. They should be capable of following protocols, working effectively in small groups, conducting repetitive and strenuous tasks, and hiking on uneven wet terrain while carrying up to 40 lbs. U.S. citizenship or legal documentation is required. Applicants must have a valid driver's license. Out-of-state applicants are encouraged to apply, though they should note that off-duty transportation and relocation costs are not provided.

DESIRABLE QUALIFICATIONS

Desirable qualifications include: prior field experience, education in environmental science, biology, forestry or a similar discipline, and experience or education in plant identification or wetland science. Applicants should enjoy field work and be highly motivated to learn and interact closely with team members.

BACKGROUND CHECK

Colorado State University strives to provide a safe study, work, and living environment for its faculty, staff, volunteers and students. To support this environment and comply with applicable laws and regulations, CSU conducts background checks. The type of background check conducted varies by position and can include, but is not limited to, criminal history, sex offender registry, motor vehicle history, financial history, and/or education verification. Background checks will also be conducted when required by law or contract and when, in the discretion of the University, it is reasonable and prudent to do so.

PAY RATE AND DURATION

$17.00 - $21.00/hour (40 hours/week), commensurate with experience and qualifications. Per diem will be provided while on travel status. The position is seasonal, from approximately May through August 2022. Continuation of the position is dependent on the receipt of funding from the sponsor.

BENEFITS

Visit CSU's Human Resources website for detailed benefit plan information for temporary employees in the following University benefit areas:
